How do we want to show up together?

Collective Visioning Activity

Imagine that there's a “door” to your LNC learning team experience. What signs, words, symbols are on the door that will tell us what we'll find when we open the door?

Instructions:

- Design the door together.
- Be creative + consider how you want to be + work together.
- Use the design to create a set of agreements for your learning team that speak to how you want to show up together and be successful.
- Choose 3 agreements to contribute to the set of Class agreements.

The LNC Learning Model

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

North Carolina is rapidly adopting artificial intelligence across education, healthcare, business, and government, but without clear frameworks for equity, transparency, and accountability, the state risks deepening existing inequalities, compromising data privacy, and undermining public trust in innovation.

Question Storming

Individual Questioning (5 minutes)

- On your own, write down as many questions as you can about the challenge.

Group Question Storm (10 minutes)

- In small groups, share your questions.
- Capture them on paper or a shared Google document.
- Keep the momentum going—no answers, no discussion.
- Notice themes

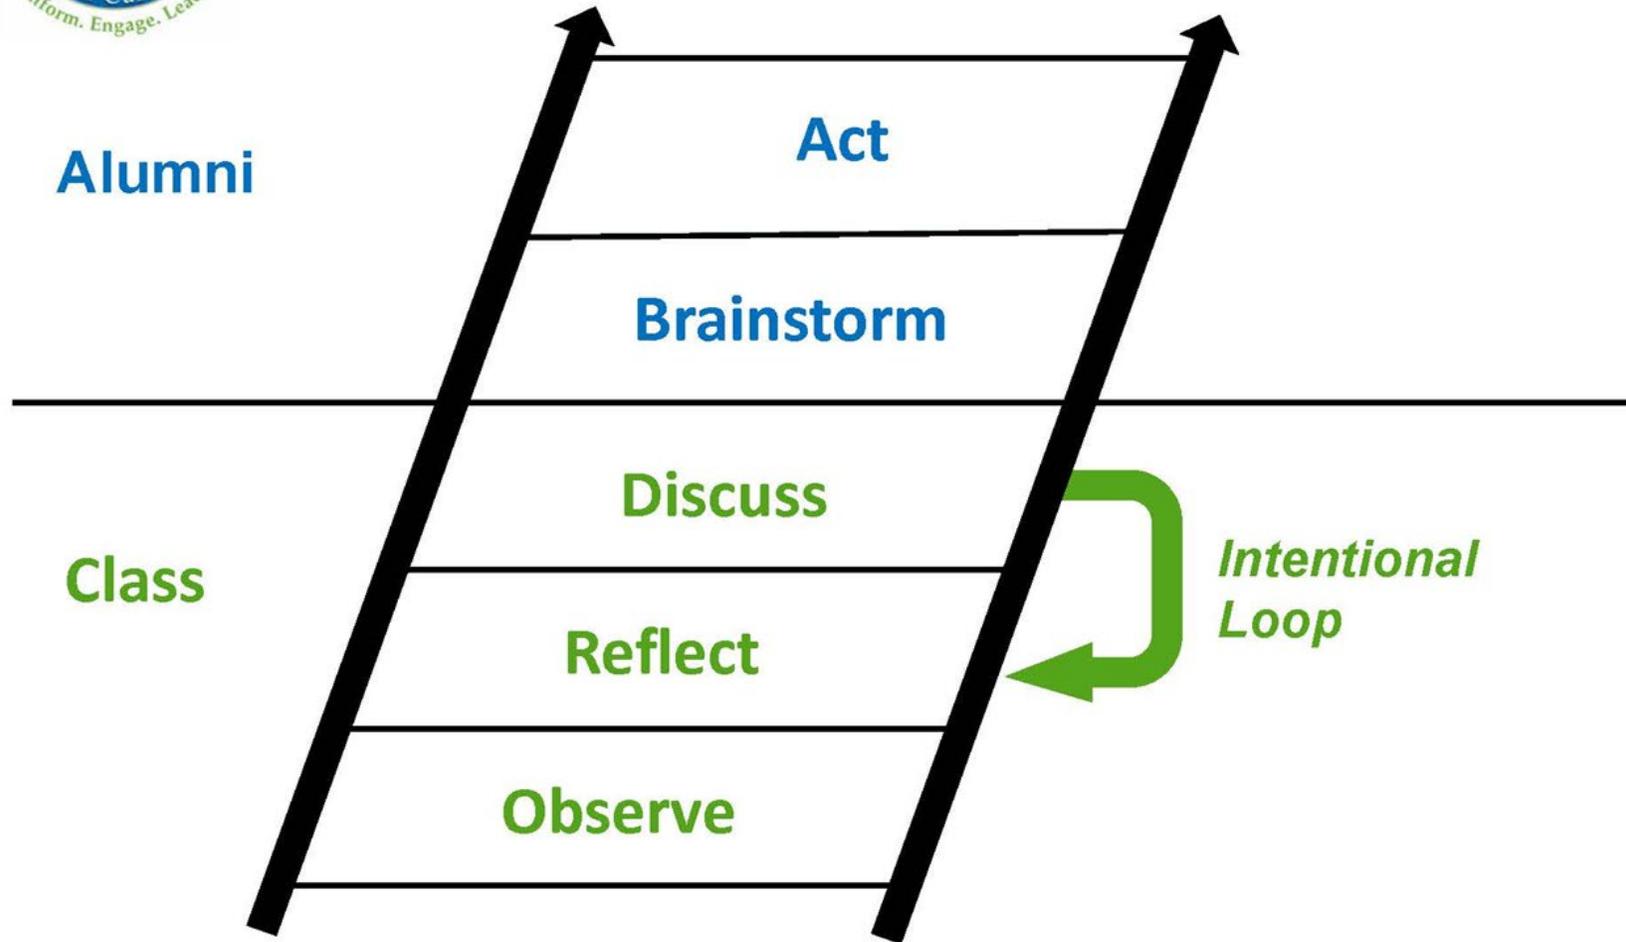

Question Storming

Ground Rules:

- Questions only—no answers, no judging.
- Quantity first—more questions = more creativity.
- Build on each other's ideas.
- Stay curious and open.

LNC Learning Model

LNC Learning Model Guiding Principles

- What personal history am I bringing to the conversations?
- What are my biases?
- What do I already think?
- Am I only hearing the things that reinforce what I already think?

A close-up shot of Chadwick Boseman as T'Challa, the Black Panther. He is wearing his ceremonial vibranium suit, which is dark with intricate silver and gold patterns. He has a serious, contemplative expression and is looking slightly to the right. The background shows the interior of the Black Panther's throne, with a large circular opening behind him. The lighting is soft, highlighting his features and the texture of his suit.
